NUMBER OF INTERVIEWS.

tern Men are Very Outspoken for Silver, but the Number of Bolters Will be Small--Cuba's Flag Prominently Displayed.

Louis, June 9.—This city is to-night camping ground of a great army on eve of battle. The McKinley hosts, powering in numbers and confident ictory, await the issue complacently. outlying camps dedicated to "Favor- Sons" have but the shadowy hope something unforeseen may happen to the tide of battle in their favor. The men, the Allison men, and in fact other than McKinley men, refuse to a roster of their pledged delegates, refer vaguely to breaks on the sec- ballot. Prominent Arrivals.

e prominent arrivals to-day included ph H. Manley of Maine, Senator of Iowa, Senator Hansbrough of th Dakota, Senator Shoup of Idaho, irman Thomas H. Carter of Montana, . Shortridge and M. H. De Young of fornia, Col. Isaac Trumbo and P. H. nan of Utah, J. S. Hammen, national mitteeman from the Indian Territo- Wright Cuney, delegate at large from as; J. R. There are 34 delegates n Missouri, 19 necessary to a choice, Mr. Kerens claims to have already ured the pledges of 17 of them.

Western Men in Evidence.

estern men are largely in evidence ight, and their views on the all-ab- bing topics the nominee and the fi- ce plank—are highly interesting. Col. e Trumbo of Salt Lake City, dele- e at large from Utah, said: "We of West have become convinced that Republican party is controlled by the trust and the Eastern manufactur- The time has come to put the party k into the hands of the common peo-

For years we have braved the heat the East and have fought the battles the Republicans without asking any- g in return. The only thing we ever to offstand the temperature was en the people of the great East gave Harrison for President.

Our fight is plain. We are for silver t and for a duty on lead and wool. We t lead and wool for the West and er for the whole country.

The Eastern manufacturers are no ger sincere in their advocacy of pro- ion. They want free wool so that y can buy it cheap at the expense of farmer, but they insist that the man- ctured product shall be protected, so t they may secure high prices for ir goods.

Our claim is that the farmer who ws the wool is entitled to the same ree of protection that is given the nufacturer of Massachusetts."

Considering a Bolt.

"Will you bolt in case a silver plank is adopted?"

"That is a matter for future considera- n. Thus far we have believed that could fight the matter out within our ty lines, but if we fail we may be npelled to adopt some other course of self-protection."

"Suppose McKinley is nominated on a nd money platform what then?"

"He would be beaten in Indiana and Il- ois, and would be given such a close n in his own State that the result ld be known only after the ballots re counted."

"Could McKinley or any other Republi- n be elected on a sound money plat- m?"

"No, most emphatically no. Every stern State with the possible excep- n of Oregon, would go Democratic, and at combined with the vote of the uth would sweep the Republicans to rtain defeat."

"Who will Utah support for the nomi- tion?"

"I imagine that her vote will be cast r Teller. Nearly all the votes of the ver States, I think, will go to him. My pression now is that he will have near- 40 votes on the first ballot. Utah, Colo- do and Idaho will certainly support him, d there is a movement on foot to get l the mining States to act in concert."

California Asks Recognition.

Mr. Samuel M. Shortridge of San Fran- co said: "The California delegation is re primarily to do what it can for Cal- rnia and the Pacific coast, and if we ay offer advice to the party, we hope promote the interests of the whole ... I am but one of 18 delegates om California, but I know each and ery one of them, and I know that each them is pledged to carry out the ishes of the Republicans of California expressed in our recent State plat- rm. That platform enjoined upon us e duty of voting and working and doing erything in honor to bring about the omination of McKinley. And every del- gate will do all that is in his power to mpass that result. We were next en- ined to advance the cause of silver, and is we shall do to the utmost of our bility. Next, the Republicans of Cali- ornia think the time has come when the acific coast should have a place in the abinet, and naturally, we think that aliforn'a should furnish the man for the lace. We ask the Republicans of New England, of the great East, and perhaps of the greater Mississippi valley, to concede the justice and propriety of California's desire in this matter. So, the California delegation is here to ask at the hands of the Republican nominee, who, in my judgment, will be the next President, this recognition.

"I am aware that at present the money question is absorbing public attention, perhaps to the exclusion of the tariff; but, speaking for myself, I believe the tariff is and will be the great paramount and controlling issue of the campaign. This is a question that goes directly to the homes and firesides of the whole American people east and west, north and south.

"We Californians believe that protection walks hand in hand with patriotism and prosperity. What the prostrate and almost helplessly ruined industries of this country want, is the return of the Republican party to power, and the restoration of a genuine American protective tariff; and it is because Californians look upon McKinley as the personification of protection, and it is because of his close identification with the protective tariff, that California is for Major McKinley for President."

M. H. De Young's Opinion.

M. H. DeYoung of California, had this to say: "The delegates from the silver States are very determined in their desire to advance the interests of silver. They want the right to have free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1. Some of them are very radical and talk about leaving the convention in case they fail to have their views adopted. This action will not be general. It is generally known that Colorado, under the leadership of Teller, proposes to walk out of the convention. The silver men, especially in Colorado, Montana and other States where silver is an important factor think that if Teller would be nominated by the Democratic party in Chicago, there would be no question of his endorsement by the two conventions that meet in St. Louis on July 22nd. That is, the silver party convention and the Populist party. In fact, it is an understanding already made and agreed to that both of these conventions will indorse the nomination of Teller.

"I think if Teller leaves the convention Montana and Idaho will promptly follow. Utah as a whole, will not."

Nevada and Utah for Silver.

A. C. Cleveland, national committeeman from Nevada, was one of the arrivals this afternoon. "We are here," he said, "to fight to the bitter end for silver. We expect defeat, but we shall fight just the same. If the party does nothing for us, they must expect defeat in Nevada. The Nevada delegation, I feel sure, will remain in the convention. There is nothing to be gained by starting a third party. If the gold standard is adopted here and free silver men win at Chicago, the result will be an overwhelming victory for the Democrats in Nevada."

P. H. Lannan, publisher of the Salt Lake Tribune, is a guest of the Southern, and while not a delegate, is much interested in the convention. "We are for free silver first, last and all the time," said Mr. Lannan this evening. "The people here in the east have a much mistaken idea of us out there in the west. They regard our silver ideas as selfish ones but I assure you they are not. It costs about $12 a ton to mine and treat silver, whereas it costs only $2.50 a ton to do the same for gold.

"Let us pass the free coinage of free silver measure and business will revive all over the country, idle labor will be employed and hard times will be a thing of the past. This does not apply only in Utah, Colorado, California and other Pacific Coast States, but to every State in the Union."

Salisbury and Clayton.

Hon. O. P. Salisbury of Utah also talked silver. "The Utah delegation," he said, "is solid for silver, of course. We purpose doing the very best we can for the white metal in the convention, but we have little hopes of accomplishing anything. The party seems determined to commit itself to the gold standard. If a declaration for gold is made the Democrats will carry the State without difficulty. The Republicans have a normal majority of from 2500 to 3000, but that would be wiped out entirely."

Among the late arrivals was ex-Governor Powell Clayton of Arkansas. He is firmly of the opinion that McKinley will win on the first ballot, and thought the only matter upon which there could be any speculation was the platform. "I favor the present monetary standard, and only such limitation on the coinage of silver money as will be necessary to maintain silver at a parity with gold. The present ratio of 16 to 1 should be maintained and supported."

Convention Sundries.

The national committee will meet to-morrow at 12 o'clock and will then decide upon the names of the temporary officers.

They will also take up the contests so far as settling them for the preliminary roll.

C. W. Fairbanks of Indiana, ex-Governor Merriam of Minnesota, and George A. Knight of California, also Proctor of Vermont, have been mentioned for temporary chairman.

That part of California's delegation now here will inaugurate a boom for Ulysses S. Grant for the Vice-Presidency. George A. Knight of San Francisco will place Grant in nomination. It is predicted that unbounded enthusiasm will follow the oratorical effort, which is sure to associate father and son and play to the "Grand Army sentiment."

Sergeant-at-Arms Byrnes gave out the following for publication to-morrow: "Much inquiry having been made relative to the extent of the damage to the convention building by the cyclone, I think it proper to inform the public that the damage has been entirely repaired, and that the hall is as good as it was before the storm. Everything is in readiness for the convention."

Finishing the Hall.

The finishing touches of the Auditorium were put on to-day. The portraits of Colonel Grant and Admiral Farragut were put up yesterday. The great naval commander looks down on the members of the convention from the gallery railing at the east end of the hall. Directly opposite is the portrait of General Phil Sheridan, representing the army. The still greater leaders, Lincoln and Grant, are on the two sides, the first almost directly over the speakers stand and Grant at the center of the south gallery, opposite. Higher than all, just above Lincoln, is Washington. Each is surrounded by American flags.

The absence of pictures and mottoes representing leaders of the Republican party of to-day is noticed. The omission was intentional. The local committee, supposed to be tinctured with McKinleyism, was placed under restrictions in this matter.

Probably no flag in the Auditorium will attract more attention or cause so much comment as that of the Cuban insurgents. It occupies a conspicuous place; in fact, the most conspicuous place in the entire building. The colors of the Cuban republic can be seen from any seat in the gallery or dress circle, and that is more than can be said of any other national emblem in the building. Even the President's flag or banner, just above the Cuban colors, will not be visible to some of the occupants of the dress circle.

Lee and Weyler.

Havana, June 9.—Consul General Lee again visited Capt. Gen. Weyler to-day. It is believed that Dawley, the imprisoned correspondent of Harper's Weekly, will be freed to-morrow. The Captain General has invited General Lee to dine with him to-morr

HISTORY OF THE BOND ISSUES.

Secretary Carlisle's Reply to the Senate Committee.

GOLD EXPORTS WERE THE CAUSE

The Sales Were Necessary to the Preservation of the Credit of the Government and the Security of the People's Business Interests.

Washington, June 9.—The Senate Committee on Finance this morning discussed the proposed investigation of the sale of bonds, which is ordered under the Senate resolution, and finally decided that the investigation should be open to the public.

The reply of Secretary Carlisle to the inquiries of the committee charged with the investigation of the sale of bonds of the United States in the years 1894-5-6, was made public this evening.

The Secretary traces the beginning of the trouble back to the closing year of President Harrison's administration, and brings the history down to Mr. Cleveland's first issue of bonds in the following statement:

Secretary Carlisle's Statement.

"Largely on account of apprehensions in this country and abroad as to the ability of the government of the United States to continue the current redemption of its notes in gold coin, and maintain the parity of the two metals, the exports of gold during the fiscal year 1893, which closed June 30, 1892, reached the unprecedented amount of $108,680,844, nearly all of which was withdrawn from the public treasury by the presentation of notes for redemption.

During the three months next preceding the seventh day of March, 1893, when I assumed control of this department, the withdrawals of gold from the treasury amounted to $33,053,063, while the exports amounted to $30,700,739, and during the eight months next succeeding that date the withdrawals amounted to $30,197,219, while the exports amounted to $39,959,979, showing an excess of withdrawals over exports, to the amount of $10,237,900. These withdrawals and shipments began on a large scale in June, 1893—the last month of the fiscal year 1892, and continued with only short periods of intermission, until the close of the fiscal year 1893. On the 31st day of December, 1892, the free gold in the treasury amounted to $121,266,662.29, but by Jan. 31, 1893, it had been reduced to $108,181,713.53, and on the 28th of February, it had fallen to $103,284,218.91, or only $3,284,218.91 in excess of the lawful reserve. The reserve fund would have fallen below $100,000,000 before March 1, 1893, if my predecessor in office had not effected arrangements in January and February by which the sum of $8,250,000 in gold was procured from certain bankers in New York, in exchange for United States notes and otherwise.

A Dwindling Reserve.

"During each of the months of November and December, 1892 and January and February, 1893, the public expenditures exceeded the receipts, the total deficiency for the four months being $5,810,548.72, and on the 7th day of March, 1893, the available cash balance in the treasury was $124,613,810, which includes $100,982,410 in gold, or $982,410 in excess of the lawful reserve; but, by making exchanges in currency for gold with the banks in different parts of the country, the amount was increased to $107,462,652 on the 25th of that month, although large withdrawals were made in the interval. Notwithstanding the most strenuous efforts by the department to maintain the $100,000,000 reserve intact, the presentation of notes for redemption to procure gold for shipment abroad, continued to such an extent that on the 22d day of April, 1893, for the first time since the fund was established, it became necessary to use a part of it for redemption purposes, and it was reduced to $[illegible]; but it was afterwards increased by exchanges of other forms of currency for gold, so that on the 10th day of August, it had been fully restored, and there was on hand $103,682,290 in free gold; but by Dec. 30, 1893, it had fallen to $80,881,601.18, and was reduced on the 17th day of January, excluding the current liabilities, but including the gold reserve and all subsidiary and minor coin, was only $83,961,402. Very little gold was being received on account of due to the government and it was therefore impossible to increase the reserve without resorting to the issue and sale of bonds, under the authority conferred by the act of Jan. 14, 1875, commonly known as the resumption act. At this date there was no free gold coin in the treasury, all the coin on hand being covered by outstanding certificates. The $69,[illegible],504 then held as free gold was in the form of bullion."

Quoting the provisions of law, which authorized this course to be taken, Mr. Carlisle proceeds to state that on the 17th of January, 1894, bids were invited for fifty millions of 5 per cent. bonds on not to exceed a 3 per cent. basis. The proceeds of this sale amounted to the sum of $58,660,917.63, which was paid into the treasury in gold coin and gold certificates.

The Second Bond Issue.

The circumstances which led to the next issue are then described.

"On the 6th day of March, 1894, after this sale had been completed, the free gold in the treasury amounted to the sum of $107,446,802, and after falling to $52,189,500 on the 7th day of August, 1894, it was slowly replenished by voluntary exchanges of gold coin for United States notes and other currency by the banks, and by small receipts of gold in the payment of duties to the government, until the 14th day of November, 1894, when it reached the sum of $61,[illegible],374. In the meantime, however, the frequent presentation of notes for redemption in gold by individuals and institutions not desiring it for export, clearly indicated the existence of a feeling of uneasiness in the public mind, while foreign exchange was almost constantly at or near a rate which made it necessary to export gold to pay bills at their maturity, and constantly withdrawals for such payment were daily threatened and as the season was then approaching when, in the usual course of trade and financial operations, large importations nearly always occur, it was considered absolutely necessary for the maintenance of the public credit and the continued execution of the monetary policy declared by Congress in the act of July 14, 1890 and repeated in the act of Nov. 1, 1893, to resort again to an issue of bonds. The result of this proposition was that 486 bids were received, amounting to $178,836,060, nearly all of which were at rates which would yield to the investors 3 per cent. or less upon the sums awarded to them. One bid for the whole sum of $50,000,000, 'all or none,' upon the basis of 2.878 per cent. being the most advantageous offer for the government that was made, was accepted and the proceeds of the sale, $58,538,500, were paid into the treasury according to the terms of sale. The payments into the treasury on account of this sale were not entirely completed after the first day of December, 1894, and it soon became evident that the transaction had not been effectual to cope with withdrawals of gold. In that month withdrawals amounted to $31,907,221, and during the next (January, 1895) they amounted to $45,117,[illegible], and they continued without diminution till the early days of February, until on the 8th of that month the reserve had been reduced to $41,393,[illegible], and several millions more had been demanded, a part of which was taken out and afterwards returned to the treasury on account of the temporary restoration of confidence resulting from the fact that it became generally known to the public that measures were about to be taken for the replenishment of the reserve.

Another Issue Necessary.

"These large withdrawals were due almost entirely, so far as could be ascertained, to a feeling of apprehension in the public mind, especially among the holders of our securities abroad, which increased in intensity from day to day until it reached the proportions of a panic in the financial centers, and it was evident to all who were familiar with the situation that unless effectual steps were promptly taken to check the growing distrust the government would be compelled within a few days to suspend payment and drop to a silver and paper standard. The situation was so grave that the attention of Congress was called to this subject by a special message from the President of the United States on the 28th day of January, 1895.

"Congress," Mr. Carlisle says, "failed to pass a measure for the relief of the treasury, or to take any action calculated to allay the serious apprehension then existing in the public mind, and consequently a contract was entered into for the purchase of 3,500,000 ounces of standard gold, at the price of $17.80 per ounce, to be paid by the delivery of United States bonds having 30 years to run and bearing 4 per cent. interest, and the gold to be deposited at the United States sub-treasuries."

In order that Congress might be afforded the earliest possible opportunity to take such action on the subject as it might consider most beneficial to the public interest, the President of the United States on the same day and immediately upon the execution of the contract, transmitted a special message asking Congress to specifically provide for a 3 per cent. bond, which would effect a saving of $16,000,000 to the government.

A bill was introduced in the House of Representatives to authorize the substitution of 3 per cent. bonds, payable in gold for the 4 per cent. bonds described in the contract, but it failed to pass and consequently the parties proceeded to complete the transaction by the exchange of gold for 4 per cent. 30-year bonds, according to the terms of the contract.

Speaking Generally.

Speaking generally of the various issues, the Secretary says:

"Owing to the discouraging condition of our financial affairs and the consequent lack of confidence in the ability of the government permanently to maintain a reserve under a system of redemption and reissue of notes, very considerable difficulty was encountered in effecting the loan invited by the proposals of Jan. 17, 1894, and at one time pending the call, it was feared that the effort would fail. However, owing to extraordinary exertions made during the last two or three days preceding the time when the bids were to be opened, subscriptions for the whole amount were secured, as hereinbefore stated.

"At the time the contract of Feb. 8, 1895 was made, the emergency was so pressing that the whole purpose of the loan would have been defeated if the replenishment of the reserve had been postponed for a sufficient length of time to advertise for bids, and besides it was exceedingly doubtful whether under the circumstances any sales could have been made to the general public upon as favorable terms as to the rate of interest as were secured by that contract."

Replying to that part of Senate resolutions, which directs the committee to investigate and report, "what effect the bond sales had on the credit and business of the people of the United States," the Secretary says that in his opinion the sales were necessary for the preservation of the credit of the government and security of the business interests of the people and that they in fact accomplished those results.

FRANK MAYO'S FUNERAL.

Impressive Ceremonies Were Held at Omaha Yesterday.

Omaha, Neb., June 9.—Impressive services were held here to-day over the remains of Frank Mayo, the actor who died on the train yesterday en route from Denver to this city, and this evening the body was sent to Philadelphia for burial.

Mr. Mayo was a member of the order of Elks during his life time and the services were conducted by the local lodge in the lodge rooms. Members of the Roland Reed company were present as well as those of Mr. Mayo's own company. Primrose and West's male quartet sang. The entire membership of the local lodge acted as escort to the train.

Freight Agents' Convention.

Chicago, June 9.—Fully 250 members, with their wives and daughters in many cases, attended the Ninth annual convention of the National association of local freight agents, which opened to-day at the Tremont House. Mayor Swift extended the hand of welcome in a pleasant speech, and the freight men listened during the morning session to addresses from President Ripley, of the Santa Fe system and President Carpenter, of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois road.

The convention was called to order by Lot Brown of the Burlington, President of the association. In denouncing certain legislation to which railroads are subjected, President Ripley said: "One reason why railroads are subjected to so much preposterous legislation, is the apathy existing among railroad men as to the manufacture of public opinion. They should take a more active interest in public matters and do everything they can to resist the efforts of the demagogues." The convention will continue to Friday.

Oregon's Militia Ordered Out.

Portland, Oreg., June 9.—The many rumors of the movements of the Oregon National Guard, which is ready at an hour's notice to go down the Columbia river among the rioting fishermen, are causing great excitement. Gen. Beebe refuses to say whether the calling out of the First regiment rests with him or Gov. Lord.

The burning of the North Shore Packing company's plant on the Washington side of the river near Astoria last night, presumably by strikers, is a fresh cause for demanding the presence of militia, and it has leaked out from a lieutenant that the First regiment will receive marching orders to go down the river on a special boat to-night.

There is much opposition here to interference in the strike troubles by militia.

A Wedding of Deaf Mutes.

Oakland, Cal., June 9.—A deaf mute wedding occurred in this city to-day, the bride being Miss Bessie Cole, the only daughter of State Harbor Commissioner Cole, and the groom Douglas Tilden, one of the most gifted sculptors on the Pacific coast. Typewritten copies of the marriage service were held before the bridal pair and the words were pointed out as they were pronounced by the minister.

Studying the Evidence.

Madrid, June 9.—The military council is engaged minutely studying the documents relating to the case of the American filibustering schooner Competitor, which was recently captured by the Spanish authorities on the coast of Cuba. The examination of these documents will be private, and no decision will be reported before August at the very earliest.

THE EVIDENCE IS ALL IN.

Arguments Begun in the Holland Murder Trial.

STATE'S SENSATIONAL EVIDENCE

McQuaid, Whom Holland Blamed with the Trouble, Put on the Stand—Mr. Blackmer Made a Brief Opening Argument.

Yesterday in the first division of the District Court was the fifth day in the Holland murder trial. All of the evidence is in and the arguments were begun yesterday. They will be concluded to-day and the case will undoubtedly go to the jury by afternoon. The defense put on two more witnesses yesterday and the evidence for rebuttal was introduced. As intimated, the prosecuting attorney had saved some of the strongest evidence for rebuttal, and it was in some respects sensational. Col. Campbell is making a hard fight for the life of his client.

The first witness examined yesterday morning was J. W. Lupton. He stated that he was a deputy sheriff, and was in Cripple Creek on the day of the killing. He stated that he was pretty well acquainted with the defendant. He had ridden with Holland from Victor to Cripple Creek after the killing. He described to the jury where he saw wounds on Holland's face. Cross-examination brought out very few facts, and Mr. Lupton was excused.

Walter Shehan, who was on the stand the day before yesterday, was recalled. He rather contradicted his statements of the day previous by saying that he first saw Maxfield at 1 o'clock on the day of the shooting, and in his other testimony stated to the jury that he saw Maxfield just prior to the killing. He also said yesterday that he saw both the men just before the shooting and that he saw them both pass out the back door. He also stated that he saw Maxfield re-enter the room in a very few minutes, and that Holland soon followed him. He said that Holland had a "scared" expression on his fact, and that Maxfield gave one the impression of having been trying to cut some one's throat.

Testimony in Rebuttal.

This closed the case for the defense, and the State began the introduction of testimony in rebuttal.

Holland was requested to take the stand and give a full description of the man McQuaid, who he claimed had been playing such a part in his story of the day previous. He did this in a very satisfactory manner, and then requested the court to let him explain why McQuaid had been so set against him. This the court refused, on the grounds that it was incompetent and had nothing whatever to do with the case in question.

N. B. Sanborn was the next witness. He testified to having seen Holland on the day after the shooting, and had an interview with him for the Denver Post. During that interview he stated that Holland said to him: "He provoked me and called me such vile names that I went to my home in Lawrence, got my gun, returned to Victor, saw him in the Victor hotel bar, and shot him." Mr. Sanborn stated that a correspondent of the New York Tribune was with him at the time, and that the words used by Holland appeared in The Post of that date.

They Knew Maxfield.

I. Gortel testified as to the good reputation of Maxfield, the deceased, and said that he had been with him until 10 o'clock on the day of the killing.

M. J. Kelley was well acquainted with Maxfield, having known him some months before his death. He said that Maxfield had roomed with him and that he had been with him on the day of the killing at 2 o'clock. He also said that he did not know of Maxfield ever having been with McQuaid, or ever having known the man at all. He said that he was Maxfield's best friend, and was with him nearly all the time, so that if he had known any such person as McQuaid he thought that he would have known of it.

L. H. Peterson stated that he was running the "Side Board" saloon, directly opposite the Victor hotel, on the day of the killing, and that he had seen Holland enter his place about a half hour before the shooting, and that while he talked with him he did not seem to be in an excited mood at all.

Holland's Reputation Bad.

Phil Holland, the Victor officer who was on the stand before, said in regard to Defendant Holland's reputation, that it was decidedly bad, that he, Holland, was in the habit of drawing a gun, and that he had also rung the fire bell when there was no cause for his doing so.

Mr. Stodardt, the gentleman who upturned Holland after he had shot Maxfield, took the stand again and showed the jury the manner in which he struck the defendant with the gun.

Mr. Richard Smith testified to the fact that there was a game of stud poker in progress within a few feet of the door leading into the little room in the rear of the bar, and he thought that if any one had been having a fight in this room that he would have heard the noise.

McQuaid's Testimony.

The next witness called was something of a surprise to the people present. Prosecuting Attorney Blackmer very quietly said to the bailiff: "Please call Hugh McQuaid." There was a stir among those present, every one expecting to see a man about six feet tall, and weighing at least 200 pounds, and literally covered with guns and knives. This they were led to believe would be the case from the description given by the defendant before the jury. A small man of about five feet four, who looked as if he would find it a hard task to hurt anyone, made his appearance.

Mr. McQuaid's story briefly told is as follows: "I live at Eclipse about a quarter of a mile from Victor, and have been working the Little Maggie claim. I did not know Maxfield at all, and never saw him until after the shooting, when laid out in the Victor bar. I was not in the bar room when the shooting took place, but having been told of the killing I went over to the hotel." Holland was then asked if this was the man he had referred to in his testimony, and answered yes. McQuaid stated that he had had trouble with Holland in a saloon at Victor once, in which the defendant struck him in the breast, and he returned the compliment by smashing Holland in the face. Cross-examination brought out few more facts and McQuaid was excused.

V. C. Wolfe stated that Maxfield had been a partner of his and that he had always been known to have a good reputation. He stated that he had been with the deceased all the day of the killing, and that he was with him until within a few minutes of his being shot. He said that when he and Maxfield entered the bar room about twenty minutes before the shooting took place, he saw Holland in the barber shop of the hotel getting a shave. He said that he left Maxfield at the roulette table and started for the hotel office. He had not gone more than 30 feet when he heard the shots, and as he started back into the bar room he met Maxfield staggering through the door into the hotel office. He said that while he had been with Maxfield that day he did not hear him say a thing regarding Holland.

This closed the testimony for both the prosecution and the defense and Judge Harris then read his instructions to the jury. When he had finished it was 12 o'clock and court was adjourned until 2 in the afternoon.

Hearing the Arguments.

The whole of the afternoon was taken up in the hearing of the arguments by the attorneys. Mr. Blackmer was very brief in his opening speech, and was through by 3 o'clock. Mr. Campbell occupied the afternoon, and when court was adjourned at 5.30 he was still talking.

Mr. Campbell will continue his argument in the court this morning, and it is thought that the case will go to the jury by noon.

CRIPPLE CREEK SAMPLES.

Good Strike in the Hayden Company's Placer Ground.

Special to The Gazette:

Cripple Creek, Colo., June 9.—A strike that has caused considerable interest in Cripple Creek to-day was made on a portion of the Hayden Placer ground, owned by the Hayden Gold Mining company. The location of the strike is in the northeast portion of the town known as "Old town." A shaft was sunk some time ago to a depth of 50 feet and some cross-cutting done. Since the fire, a barber named J. S. Wilson, but better known under the sobriquet of "Bob the Barber," went to work prospecting and continued the shaft down to a depth of 100 feet and again started a cross-cut. After cross-cutting some thirty feet a vein eight inches wide was encountered to-day. It is a rich sylvanite ore and preparations are now making for a trial shipment which is expected to run between $200 and $300 per ton. Dr. J. A. Whiting is associated with Wilson in this property which is being worked under bond and lease.

A good strike has been made in the Kittie Wells claim, on Carbonate hill. The property has been worked for a long time without finding anything of good value. The latest is a 15-foot shaft which has come into a good vein 15 inches wide and shows up very well by panning. The owners are pushing work and saving ore for a trial shipment which will be made in a few days.

Machinery will start to-morrow on the Cosmopolitan lease on the Half Moon property of the Matoa company. This lease is well on the north end of the claim and is developed by a 120 foot shaft. A good looking vein was cut at a depth of 65 feet but dipped away from the shaft which will be continued to a good depth from which a cross-cut to open the vein will be run.

The Gladys A. company has all necessary work for the securing of patents on three of its claims on the east slope of Bull hill. The company has also finished work on a claim on Gold hill which it owns. The Montana, located on the south slope of Squaw mountain is already patented. The property is showing up well.

VICTIMS OF ANARCHY.

Immense Crowds Attended the Funerals in Barcelona Yesterday.

Barcelona, June 9.—The funerals of the victims killed by the bomb explosion Sunday at the church of Santa Maria took place to-day and were attended by an immense crowd. The dead were buried at the expense of the city. Several of the persons who were injured have since died, and others are moribund.

Altogether about 100 arrests have been made of men suspected of being concerned in the outrage. Another dynamite cartridge was exploded to-day outside of a dwelling near San Sebastian.

TWO HUNDRED KILLED.

Kurds Massacre a Party of Railway Men, Including Europeans.

Athens, June 9.—Instead of only a few French, British and German engineers being massacred by Kurds on the line of railway from Smyrna to Kassaba, as reported on Sunday last, the number of victims is estimated at 200. The consuls at Smyrna have gone to the scene to investigate the affair.

MARYLAND DEMOCRATS.

A Voice Will Be Heard for Silver Even in Baltimore.

Baltimore, June 9.—The Democratic State convention will meet here at noon to-morrow to elect four delegates at large to the national convention, and adopt a platform. There will be considerable silver sentiment in the convention, although none of the leaders seem to think it will be of sufficient strength to do more than to kick up a row. However, nearly every shore delegation has white metal delegates in their make-up, and it would not be surprising if they together with agricultural delegates from western Maryland should force some concessions from the delegations from the city.

The silver men are shouting loudly that there will be no mention of gold in the platform, but instead the financial plank in the platform will be at worst a straddle. Mr. Gorman will fix up a slate, and it will undoubtedly go through with a rush, whether or not the independents are recognized. The financial end of the platform is the only thing likely to cause trouble.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

New York-Cincinnati.

New York, June 9.—Meekin was too much for the Cincinnatis to-day. The New York on the other hand hit Inks freely during the first four innings, after which he settled down and pitched good ball. The visitors put up a fine game in the field. Score: New York, 7; Cincinnati, 4.

Boston-St. Louis.

Boston, June 9.—Breitenstein was an insuperable barrier to the Bostons to-day. Not a Boston man reached second base, and only four got as far as first after the second inning. Score: Boston, 0; St. Louis, 5.

Brooklyn-Pittsburg.

Brooklyn, June 9.—Abbey was very cool and steady to-day when any of the Pittsburg players succeeded in reaching the bases. The solitary tally of the visitors was a gift of Shoch, who could have easily caught Elmer Smith at the plate in the first. Score: Brooklyn, 5; Pittsburg, 1.

Philadelphia-Cleveland.

Philadelphia, June 9. Cleveland again downed Philadelphia to-day. The visitors played all around the local club both at the bat and in the field. Score: Philadelphia, 1; Cleveland, 9.

Baltimore-Louisville.

Baltimore, June 9.—The Baltimore-Louisville score was 4 to 4 when Umpire Sheridan called the game on account of a heavy downpour of rain. The home team had scored three times and had a man on third with two out in the fourth inning.

Washington-Chicago.

Washington-Chicago game postponed on account of rain.

Horse and Rider Killed.

Kansas City, June 9.—Benny Valle, who was riding the erratic brute, Al Watts, at the races this afternoon was thrown and killed. The horse broke his neck.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

Senate and House Make Make Progress with Appropriations.

DRAWING NEAR THE END.

The House Adds One to the List of Republican Members — The Tucker Rule Invoked to Secure a Necessary Quorum.

Washington, June 9.—Very satisfactory progress in clearing up the odds and ends of the legislative work of the session was made by the Senate to-day. Final conference reports on the Naval Appropriation bills were presented and agreed to.

In the Naval bill a compromise was made, reducing the number of new battle ships to three and directing that no contracts shall be made for armor plate until after the Secretary of the Navy shall have inquired into the cost of manufacture and shall have made a report to Congress. The question of contract schools in the Indian bill was compromised on the basis of allowing them (where there are no other schools to take their place) during the fiscal year 1897.

A resolution which had been offered yesterday by Mr. Wolcott of Colorado, respecting the erection of an equestrian statue to General William T. Sherman in the city of Washington, was taken up and discussed for nearly two hours. It directed an inquiry by the committee on library into the facts and circumstances of the contract and requested the Secretary of War to suspend its execution till next session. The resolution was defeated.

The bill in relation to contempts of court reported from the judiciary committee by Mr. Hill, (New York), was taken up, discussed for some time and then allowed to be set aside informally so other business might be taken up.

The bill increasing from $10 to $50 a month the pension of Francis E. Hoover, which was vetoed by the President and afterwards passed by the House over the President's veto, was taken up and discussed, but when the Senate came to vote on its passage, it turned out that there was no voting quorum in the chamber and then, at 5:40, the Senate adjourned until to-morrow.

HOUSE.

Washington, June 9.—On the day before that on which Congress is confidently expected to finally adjourn for the session, the House spent six and a half hours in the consideration of a contested election case—T. H. Aldrich (Rep.) vs. Oscar W. Underwood (Dem.) from the Ninth Alabama district.

It was the unfinished business when the House reassembled at 10 o'clock in further continuance of the legislative day of Saturday, the pending question being the motion of Mr. Daniels (Rep.) of New York, to lay on the table the motion by Mr. Owens (Dem.) of Kentucky, to reconsider the vote by which on Monday the House decided to consider the case. There being no quorum present at that time, it was decided by the Republican leaders to enforce for the first time the Tucker rule incorporated into the code of the Fifty-fourth Congress. Before all its features, especially that by which the sergeant-at-arms produces absent gentlemen, were brought into play, however, a quorum appeared and the discussion was begun. It was participated in by Messrs. Daniels (Rep.) of New York, and Linney (Rep.) of North Carolina, in favor of the contestant, and Messrs. Underwood and Stallings (Dems) of Alabama, in favor of the contestee. There was considerable Republican opposition to the recommendation of the committee, and the resolution declaring Aldrich entitled to his seat was agreed to by less than 10 majority, the vote being 116 yeas, 107 nays. Aldrich was sworn in.

The final conference reports on the Indian and Naval bills were agreed to amid applause.

The report of the conferees upon the Sundry Civil Appropriation bill, a final agreement as to all matters in dispute, except the public building appropriation, was agreed to. The House voted to insist upon its disagreement to these, except as to that for the building at Savannah, Ga., but by a vote of 99 to 91 agreed to it. The House disagreed to the Senate amendment to the Urgent Deficiency bill giving to every employe on the rolls Dec. 2, 1895, and since discharged, a month's salary.

The rules were suspended and a bill passed to put into operation the recommendation of the international conference for preventing collisions at sea.

A resolution reported from the Committee on Accounts was agreed to, authorizing the Speaker to appoint a special committee of five to sit during the recess to investigate the charges of mismanagement against the Leavenworth Soldiers' Home, and appropriating $3,000 for its expenses.

At 7 o'clock a still further recess was taken until 10 o'clock to-morrow.

The Sundry Civil Bill.

Washington, June 9.—In the House to-day Mr. Cannon, (Rep.) of Illinois, presented the report of the conferees on the Sundry Civil appropriation bill. It was read and agreed to.

The agreement includes all the items in dispute save only those in relation to the public buildings, as to which the House disagreed. It cut down from $[illegible] to $5,000 the appropriation to enable the United States to take part in the Brussels exposition at the invitation of the Belgian government; struck out the appropriation of $15,000 for a light house on Swan Island, Caribbean Sea; struck out the appropriation of $[illegible] for a fire-proof building for the National Museum. It also made an appropriation of $19,000 to each the Providence and Garfield hospitals, for caring for the indigent sick of the district.

A Steamship Wrecked.

London, June 9.—A cablegram received here from Jamaica states that the steamer Golden Fleece, (British), from New York for Kingston, before reported ashore near Morant, jettisoned a portion of her cargo, but the work of lightering was stopped when she was found to be sinking. She had eighteen feet of water in her hold last night. She will be a total loss. None of the crew was lost. The Golden Fleece was formerly the steamer Lake Nepigon. She was built in 1880 and was owned by the Argonaut Steamship company, (Limited) of Scotland. She was [illegible] feet 1 inch long, 35 feet 2 inches beam and 25 feet 9 inches deep.

Cold Wave in Iowa.

Burlington, Ia., June 9.—A cold wave struck here to-day. The mercury has fallen to 60 to-night and it is growing colder. A fall of sixty degrees has been shown in thirty-six hours.

Postoffice Bill Approved.

Washington, June 9.—The President this afternoon approved the Postoffice Appropriation bill.

Gold Reserve.

Washington, June 9.—The treasury gold reserve at the close of business to-day stood at $105,319,424. The day's withdrawals were $[illegible],700.

FOR RIVERS AND HARBORS.

Opinion of the Merits and Demerits of the Bill.

AS TO ITS POLITICAL ASPECTS.

Defects of the System—An Honest Difference of Opinion as to Some of the Expenditure—The Annual Deficit—Common Sense View.

WASHINGTON, June 9. [Special.]—Now that the river and harbor bill has become a law by virtue of a two thirds vote in each house of congress to pass it over the veto perhaps it would be instructive to give what might be called the expert or inside opinion in Washington as to the merits and demerits of the law. This I am able to do upon pretty accurate information and certainly without any prejudice one way or the other. It must be admitted at the outset that the method by which these important appropriations are made in this country is a bad one. We have here altogether too much government by parliament.

Abroad such matters as river and harbor improvements are placed altogether in the hands of expert boards, and the money is appropriated in a lump. All the details are fixed by the experts, and the parliament does not concern itself with them. Here congress insists upon doing everything down to the smallest detail. The inevitable result is that many of these appropriations are made for political purposes to help this congressman or that secure reelection in his state or district. Everybody demands a share of the pork, and the river and harbor committees are shrewd enough to distribute their favors in such ways as to command votes enough not only to pass the bill in the first instance but to carry it over the president's veto should that become necessary. This is known as the "log rolling" or "help your neighbor" method of securing appropriations.

Evils of the Log Rolling System.

It is true the army engineers are supposed to serve as a board of experts in these matters. These engineers are for the most part able and honest men but they know very well their recommendations are likely to be overridden by congress. The national lawmakers finally take all responsibility off the shoulders of the engineers, and this operates to strike down professional pride and zeal.

Notwithstanding the evils of the system, which has grown up just as other things have grown up in our government without any one in particular being responsible for it, the new river and harbor law is not a steal. It is not robbery. It is not even extravagant. The wonder is, under such a system, that it is not a worse bill. I have talked with many engineers, with members of the committees and with many public men about the items in the law, and this seems to be the fact.

Of a total authorized expenditure of $72,000,000, $2,000,000 or $3,000,000 is for purposes which are open to criticism, being designed for works which are not important to commerce or to the people in any way. As to some of these items, aggregating $2,000,000 or $3,000,000, there is an honest difference of opinion, and others are clearly products of the political and log rolling system which controls this feature of our government's operations. But as to the remainder, the great bulk of the authorized expenditures, it is beyond criticism, devoted to works of great importance. The question, therefore, is a simple one. Shall the wheels of progress be stopped because some of the items in the law are for works of doubtful value?

Future Expenditure.

Though the total amount involved is more than $70,000,000, less than $13,000,000 is made immediately available, and this amount is for two years' operations, as congress makes no appropriations for rivers and harbors at its short session. The remainder is to be spent during a long series of years by the contract system, which is economical, rational and businesslike. The only sensible way to carry on these great works is to let contracts for the whole operation and to keep them going. From 25 to 45 per cent saving over the old method is proved by actual experience.

The argument is generally made that the government cannot now afford such large expenditures because the treasury income is not now equal to the outgo. If you listen to the party men, one side will tell you one thing about this and the other side another. Those who are seeking the truth generally have to look elsewhere than to the politicians for it. The facts, as they appear to me, are these:

How We Are Running In Debt.

The annual deficit as matters are now going is something like $40,000,000 a year. But it being the policy of the government as at present administered to keep up the gold reserve by selling bonds for gold and all the money thus borrowed being covered into the treasury as available assets, the deficit of revenue is more than overcome by the sums thus accrued. In three years the government has borrowed nearly $400,000,000, but there is now in the treasury available money to the amount of something like $275,000,000. Doubtless there will be more withdrawals of gold, but no matter how much of the yellow metal goes out other money has to be put in its place. The diminution of the reserve does not diminish the amount of money in the treasury, but if the reserve continues to dwindle another sale of bonds for gold will become necessary, and the available assets of the treasury will be increased by that much.

The comparatively small annual deficit is thus easily overcome by the method employed to keep up the gold reserve. Therefore the question is a very simple one: after the money is in the treasury are you going to let it lie there idle doing no good to any one, or is it to be put in circulation among the people for legitimate internal improvements?

No matter what the politicians say, this is the common sense view of the case. If the gold reserve is to be kept up, we have to buy gold to do it with. After getting the money shall it be permitted to lie stagnant as an unnecessarily large surplus, or shall it be employed?

WALTER WELLMAN.

Last of Havana Tobacco.

New York, June 9.—The Ward liner, Seguranca which arrived from Havana brought the last cargo of Havana tobacco from Cuba which will arrive here until Captain General Weyler's order prohibiting the shipment of tobacco from the island, shall have been rescinded. The cargo consisted of 208 bales and 12 bbls of leaf tobacco.

W. J. Younge Dead.

Clinton, Ia., June 9.—W. J. Young the millionaire, lumber man and philanthropist, is dead. He was born in Belfast, Ireland, Feb. 27, 1837, came here in 1858, engaged in the lumber business, built his first mill here in 1860 and when his mills closed and he retired three years ago he had the largest plant of the kind in the world. He is credited with introducing braided rafts instead of the old fashioned way and of introducing among the first towing of logs with steamboats.

KILLED IN COLD BLOOD.

How Spaniards are Making War on Cuban Non-Combatants.

Havana, June 6, via Tampa, Fla., June 9.—That the work of extermination of non-combatants continues to a greater or less extent is evidenced by the reports which are received from the country. Not a day passes without some shocking story being told of brutal assassinations committed by the troops on defenseless people whose sole crime is being witnesses of the war raging all over the island without taking any part. Here are a few facts selected from the many that are told.

On the 21 inst. a column of Spanish troops commanded by Colonel Ochoa, operating around Jaruco, Havana province, captured a poor, miserable boy of 15 years, named Juan Rodriguez suffering from nervous prostration and so weak that he could hardly move without assistance. This unhappy creature was dragged from his home and without any compassion for his pitiable state, he was butchered on the roadway to Tapaste for the crime of being a cousin of the leader of a band named Victor Simon.

On June 1 Simon Yrirl, member of one of the best families of Jaruco, was arrested on suspicion of being a rebel sympathizer by orders of General Melguizo. He was too well known to be taken out of the town and shot in the fields as this would create a scandal, so they made a semblance of a court martial and with all the apparent formalities of the law, he was publicly shot in the square of the town. The deed created general indignation when it was known that Melguizo had ordered the execution on his own authority, without consulting the Captain General, who is the only one empowered to order such proceedings.

On June 4, Mr. Lorenzo Melina a native of the Canary Islands 47 years of age and a cattle dealer, and John Toledo, a Cuban, 30 years of age, owner of a cartshop, both well known and esteemed in the town of Jaruco were arrested on no known charges. They were locked in the civil guards' barracks, and the next morning they were taken out of the town on the promise of prompt release and treacherously shot behind the slaughter house.

It is known that Valencia had a fight with Colonel Dondevila of Campo, Fla., fame, in which this "brave" was completely routed, losing 32 dead left on the field. This has never been repeated officially.

The Bayamo guerillas, about 100 men, commanded by Abiga Guerra, have joined the rebels, seduced thereto by Calixto Garcia when he passed near the place last week.

In Sancti Spiritus a band of musicians of the local volunteers headed by its bandmaster, Mr. Justo Alvarez, with all the instruments of the band, also went over to the woods to enliven the time for the revolutionists.

A Battle in Soudan.

Cairo, June 9.—Advices received from Akasheh, the advance post occupied by the Egyptian troops in the Soudan, this morning give the battle which took place between the Egyptians and the Dervishes at and around Firket. 800 Dervishes were killed and 450 taken prisoners. The number of wounded Dervishes is not reported. The number of Egyptian troops engaged in the battle was 400, while the Dervishes are estimated to have numbered 4500.

The gallantry displayed by the Egyptians is highly praised.

Turkish Brigands.

Constantinople, June 9.—A startling case of brigandage occurred yesterday almost within the precincts of the capital of the Turkish empire. Two carriages, one containing Madame Branzeau, a wealthy French lady, and the other bearing Madame Paragamian and her daughter, the wife and child of a rich Armenian residing in this city were attacked by brigands at Yalova, 20 miles from the city, and the occupants of the vehicles were carried off. To-day their captors caused to be conveyed to Constantinople the information that the ladies will be held until the demand of the brigands for £2,000 ransom is complied with.

Decided Against England.

Cairo, June 9.—The Egyptian mixed tribunal, formed for the purpose of deciding as to the legality of the advance money from the Egyptian treasury for the purpose of meeting the expenses of the Soudan expedition, has formally pronounced judgment against the proposal to draw upon the commission of public debt for the sum asked or any part thereof. This action of the tribunal was taken despite the refusal of the British and Egyptian governments to recognize the competence of the tribunal to decide upon the question.

Cuban Skirmishes.

Havana, June 8. Official reports received to-day give details of many skirmishes that have taken place, none of which, however, of much importance according to the reports. The rebel losses in these skirmishes amounted to 16 killed, seven wounded and nine taken prisoners, while the troops lost only 12 wounded.

Ornamental Electric Light Posts.

[Special Correspondence.]

NEW YORK, June 8. Notwithstanding its meritorious and notable advances, this country has much to learn from the nations of Europe in the way of fashioning things of beauty out of objects of everyday use. Among the many lessons taught in outdoor decorative art by the establishment of Central park, more than 30 years ago, was the wholesome fact that a lamppost could be made far more ornamental and picturesque in appearance than were the skinny, angular iron pillars then in use, which smote the eye so painfully at every turn. Just as that abomination, however, was about to be permanently edged off into oblivion electric lighting came into vogue and an entirely different set of conditions was presented to the landscape artist.

To expend its high illuminating power to the best advantage the electric lamp must necessarily be placed at a much higher elevation than the old fashioned gas lamp. Nothing better being at hand, the straight wooden post was adopted about 15 years ago as a proper perch therefor, with heavy wires strung from one to the other like clotheslines, as if the city was getting ready to put out its wash. Although the wooden posts have been superseded in some instances by iron ones because of their greater durability, these makeshift contrivances are conceded to be unsightly and utterly unbecoming to the dignity of any city with pretensions to civic pride.

Up to the present time Copenhagen is the European city that appears to have addressed itself with the highest degree of success to the task of providing an agreeable substitute for these disfiguring eyesores. The electric lampposts lately put up in the principal public square of that city seem to meet all the requirements of the case. In sightliness the new design speaks for itself.

In utility also it leaves nothing to be desired. The long post is cast hollow, and the wires enter it from the ground, emerging from it near the shepherd's crook at the top. From this depends a heavy weight, resting on a spiral coil, by means of which the lamp, with the reticulated wire covering over the globe, is held firmly in position. The wires can, of course, be carried into the lamp in any other way that is convenient, while it can be readily hoisted up and down by means of a light pole with a hook at the end. From both the artistic and practical standpoint the Copenhagen experiment appears to fill a long felt want, as the trite phrase goes, and the new support for electric lamps might be introduced into New York and the larger American cities to the great improvement of their avenues, boulevards, parks and public buildings.

LET DOGS TRAIN EACH OTHER.

A Novel Suggestion Advanced by an Experienced Hunter and Trainer.

A novel theory of bird dog training is advanced in Forest and Stream by an experienced hunter and trainer, George Kennedy. He says:

"We all know how few and far between the good dogs are, whether good, bad or indifferent trainers have had them in hand. Not one out of 100 is so well trained that he has sense of his own. It may be possible that we may be training our hunting dogs wrong. Those dogs that I trained perfectly had no sense of their own, and those that I half trained had more sense, were better bird finders, but each of them had some canine idiosyncrasy that brought him down below the level of the desirable dog."

The truth of the matter, he thinks, is that training deadens the dog's mind. It becomes automatic, and when a novel dilemma arises it has no reasoning faculties with which to meet the emergency.

"I am half inclined," Mr. Kennedy says, "to believe that the way to train a dog is to let him learn from his superiors i. e., from the best dogs possible. This is a slower process, but it excludes any sort of human interference. So far as my experience and observation have gone, it takes at least two years for an old dog to train or teach a young one. He learns in this manner to point, back, retrieve and range, and no other dog can range like the self taught or dog taught ranger. He goes like the wind and hunts for birds every minute, with an eye single to find them. To have a man teach a dog is like having a phonograph teach a child. The best dogs for hunting purposes are those which are thinkers."

Up in the Adirondack mountains pups are taught to run deer by turning them loose with an old hound. An old hunter likes to show the youngsters how to handle a gun accurately and carefully. The old hound delights in an opportunity to show the young ones how to find and follow a cold, warm or hot trail. There are dog taught hounds in the Adirondacks that will follow a trail as well as any in the world. The dog trainers are thinking hard about Mr. Kennedy's suggestion.

FACIAL EXPRESSION.

The Sources Whence It Originated In Its Various Forms.

Edouard Cuyer set forth at a recent session of the transformistes of Paris, says a correspondent of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, the latest view of the evolutionist as to the origin of facial expression in man. His lecture, as summarized in a bulletin of the Societe d'Anthropologie, contains the following: Muscles about the mouth help to produce expressions of sadness, contempt and disgust, this last when the lower lip droops and curls. These expressions the lecturer traced to the involuntary effort to eject disagreeable things from the mouth. Our ancestors were children, so to speak, and the civilized babe of today, on finding a bitter object in the mouth, first draws down the corners of the lips, then turns the lower lip outward to help eject the disagreeable thing, and as a final resource thrusts out the tongue to expel the offending bitterness. We retain, to express extreme disgust and hatred, this thrusting out of the tongue.

Amusement or pleasure is expressed by a smile that widens the mouth and raises it at the corners. The cheeks are rigid at the same time, and there are raylike marks about the eyes. The smile of pleasure which begins thus with the opening of the mouth is traced to the joy of our savage ancestors at the prospect of being fed. It is a selfish joy, and M. Cuyer is cynical enough to believe that most of our smiles are the result of gratified selfishness. We welcome our friends with a smile that as much as anything else perhaps expresses our selfish pleasure in anticipation of diversion or at the secret thought of our own cleverness which is to entertain the visitor. Often our smiles are of self complaisance or condescension, and then there are the smiles of defiance, which are simply a survival of the ungenial way in which our savage ancestors grinned in order to show a formidable array of teeth to an enemy.

Colonel North.

Colonel North's stocks always turned out profitable. His horse always won the purse, and his dog never failed to win the cup. The big prize at the dog show in England is the Waterloo cup, worth 5,000 guineas. One day Colonel North saw a dog which he fancied, and he bought him for 350 guineas, about $1,838. At the next dog show it took a prize, and his friends urged him to compete for the Waterloo cup, which is given to the best dog in a race. Talking with John Dent, a celebrated dog trainer, North was told that his dog would probably win the Waterloo cup. "Make him win the cup, John," said North, "and you may have the prize." The trainer accepted the offer, but said, "I want to tell you, Colonel North, there's just one dog in all England I'm afraid of."

"Well," said North, "I'll buy him." He sent an agent, who bought the other dog for £850. When Colonel North arrived at Valparaiso, he received a dozen cablegrams congratulating him because one of his dogs had won the Waterloo cup and the other came in second.—Ex Diplomat in Oshkosh Northwestern.

The Delft Craze.

The craze for delft wares has interested many in the history of a ware that has for many years had a fascination for a few collectors. The earliest delft is believed to have been an imitation of a blue and white porcelain made in China, and was first manufactured in Delft, Holland, some time in the fourteenth century. Some 200 years later the Dutch began the manufacture of the ware in England, and later the

MUNYON Talks On DYSPEPSIA

HOW TO CURE YOURSELF.

In all forms of stomach trouble Munyon's Dyspepsia Cure will promptly cure where there are such symptoms as pain or soreness in the stomach, indigestion or distress after eating, pressure and fullness in the stomach, shortness of breath, poor appetite, coated tongue, sour or bitter raising from the stomach, heartburn, wind on the stomach, constipation, dizziness, faintness and lost energy.

When these symptoms are associated with billiousness, yellow-coated tongue, nausea, bitter taste in the mouth and sallow skin, take Munyon's Liver Cure in alternation with the Dyspepsia Cure, an hour apart. Where there is obstinate constipation keep the bowels open once a day by using Munyon's Constipation Cure until they become regular under the effect of the Dyspepsia Cure. When there are troublesome heart symptoms alternate Munyon's Heart Cure with the Dyspepsia Cure. If there is great nervousness or inability to sleep, alternate Munyon's Nerve Cure with the Dyspepsia Cure. If the blood is poor in quality alternate Munyon's Blood Cure and Dyspepsia Cure. By this plan of treatment one can eradicate the worst forms of stomach troubles and their complications, and make the cure permanent.

Personal letters to Prof. Munyon, 1505 Arch street, Philadelphia, Pa., answered with free medical advice for any disease.

French potters attempted it with considerable success. Mr. Edwin Barber, who is a collector and connoisseur of ceramics, says, "Very few pieces of the English delft seem to have reached the United States, as nine out of ten examples which have come to light show unmistakably their Dutch origin."—New York Post.

RICHMOND, June 1. The eating of peanuts, especially among the very large class of persons who care far more about gratifying their tastes than cutting a figure in the fashionable world, is almost as common as the habit of walking on other persons' feet in the cars without the formality of an apology. As a popular article of diet it ranks ahead of the apple and follows closely upon the heels of the succulent orange and the treacherous banana. Its economic value is equally great. It may, therefore, be interesting to note that the popular vague supposition that the peanut is imported from somewhere or other and comes to the market in the separate pods familiar to everybody, all ready to be eaten, is erroneous. Though the plant was originally a native of South America, it has since been cultivated not only in many of the warmer countries in the old world, but is now planted with great success in the United States, especially in Virginia and the Carolinas. The peanut receives its name from its pod, which is similar in form to that of the pea. It is also known in some countries as the ground or earth nut. It is a trailing plant, 9 to 18 inches high, with leaflets arranged in pairs, and small yellow flowers. After the lower petals of the flowers have decayed the flower stalk bends downward into the earth, and here, several inches in the soil, the fruit develops and ripens. The seeds are very oily and are for this reason largely employed in the manufacture of soap and an oil resembling olive oil. A bushel of peanuts will yield about one gallon of oil. The leaves resemble clover and are used for fodder. Peanuts thrive best in a light, loamy soil plowed deeply. Fifty bushels per acre have been produced in good ground. The nuts mature after the first frost, when the vines are dug with forks, dried and then cured by smoking, after which the pods are picked by hand, placed in a fanning mill to be cleaned and occasionally bleached with sulphur. Then they are put in bags and sent to the markets ready for the peanut enthusiast, the Italian, who so well understands the roasting of this nut.

As to their consumption, the figures are something really startling, New York city alone taking over 1,000,000 bushels annually, other cities averaging in about this proportion. They are very nutritious, some devotees to the peanut habit claiming that a few taken after a meal will act as a pepsin.

A Sufferer Cured

"Every season, from the time I was two years old, I suffered dreadfully from erysipelas, which kept growing worse until my hands were almost useless. The bones softened so that they would bend, and several of my fingers are now crooked from this cause. On my hand I carry large scars, which, but for AYER'S Sarsaparilla, would be sores, provided I was alive and able to carry anything. Eight bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla cured me, so that I have had no return of the disease for more than twenty years. The first bottle seemed to reach the spot and a persistent use of it has perfected the cure."—O. C. DAVIS, Wautoma, Wis.

WORK OF THE SCHOOL BOARD.

The school board was in session practically all day Monday and a great deal of work was done. The principal business was the delivery of the bonds that have been issued, and the deposit of the money for them in the bank to the credit of the district, and the awarding of the contract for the superstructure of the new part to the Garfield school building and the alterations on the inside of the building.

The former, after a great deal of red tape had been unwound, was accomplished, and the district has the sum of $20,125 to its credit for construction purposes.

The latter was more difficult than the awarding of contracts usually is. The home contractors are so busy that it was hard to induce them to figure on the job at all. The board greatly preferred a home firm if they could get a reasonable bid from one; not only so as to keep the money in town, but also so that the contractors might be immediately available, and so that it might be more certain that the work would be finished in time for the opening of school in September. The lowest bid put in was that of Gillis Bros., at $18,160, and that was finally accepted, and the contract awarded to them.

This contract provides, not only for the building of two additions to the present building at the Garfield school, but for the complete remodelling of the old building. The cellar is to be excavated under the whole building, so that there will be recreation rooms and bicycle rooms there for both boys and girls, and new quarters for the janitor, and plenty of room for the new heating and ventilating apparatus. On the first floor, the arrangement will be changed so as to make plenty of light and air in the halls, which are now dark. New floors will be put in, in place of the old ones which are worn. New stairs will be constructed, larger and more convenient. The upper story will be remodelled, making a new principal's office and a new teachers' room, and new floors will be put in there also. There are to be new blackboards wherever required. The walls are to be made whole, and kalsomined throughout. The new cellar is to have new cement floors, and two new school rooms are to be made in the front basement, which is very high and light. In fact the whole building is to be practically made over as good as new, and a good deal better than the old part ever was when it was new. Besides all this, the plan provides, and the contract includes, the making of new cement walks in the yard, and the building of a wall all around the school lot, the portion next the alleys to be of brick, while that on the two streets is to have a stone coping. There is to be a grass-plat in front of the door, with a hand-rail around to keep intruders off; and in fact, the whole building and surroundings will be so changed and improved that one will hardly recognize it.

The substructure of the new part has cost $2,190. The heating-ventilating plant is estimated at $3,250. The improvement altogether, which is equivalent to making over the old school and adding another six-room building, will therefore cost close to $25,000. It is well worth the money. A new six-room building alone, in another place would have cost at least that, and the necessary changes to make the present Garfield building available for next year would have cost at least $7,000 so the board practically saves at least $7,000 by making the change as it is now being made.

The board has done a great deal of work during the last month. The labors are not yet over for the summer, for besides seeing that the new school is ready in time for the fall term, and taking possession of the new lot on North Weber street, there is still the new superintendent to be chosen, and the supervisors of music and writing and physical culture, and the new teachers who are to take the place of those resigning and to occupy the additional rooms that have been provided. All these matters we feel sure, will be attended to with wisdom and discretion, for the present board has showed those qualities eminently in most of the work it has done since its organization.

SAFE INVESTMENTS.

We reprint on this page to-day an interesting article from the Philadelphia Inquirer, on investments, showing the lessening rates of interest, and how those who wish safe investments must be content with less and less for their money. One must be careful to realize the Eastern point of view in reading an article like this. Their idea of safe investments is a little different sometimes from the Western idea of safety. By safe they mean as sure as government bonds. Out here we perhaps like a little bit of risk, just to make it interesting; and certainly we do not want any three per cent. investments, no matter if they are absolutely safe, when we can get a mining stock that pays twenty per cent. now, with every prospect of keeping it up.

But bearing this difference in mind, and making allowance for it, there is still a great prospect of bringing more Eastern money to Cripple Creek. There are millions lying idle, or drawing only two or three per cent interest. Their owners cannot all invest in government bonds; and when we can convince them that we have something that is safer than farm mortgages, and that pays twice as much interest as the best of the latter, then there will be plenty of money available for investment here.

Every dividend paid regularly and on time is that much in favor of the camp, and the mines like Isabella and Moon-Anchor, which are paying their dividends just as regularly as the United States government, and a great deal more frequently, are doing more every month to convince conservative investors that their money is safe in mines, than any number of articles that could be written, or prospectuses that could be sent out.

Of all the possible candidates for Vice-President, Mr. McAlpin of New York is the least fitted for the position. He was a dead failure as president of the Republican league of the United States, and showed no particular executive capacity. His proper place is where he is, as an ornamental member of Governor Morton's staff.

The Yale crew has gone to Henley to row races on the Thames. We hope they will have better fortune than the Cornell crew did last year.

The "color line" may be drawn by the hotel men of St. Louis but it will not be drawn in a Republican convention.

Two Good Schemes

To the Editor of The Gazette:

I have had two hobbies on my mind for a year past and I want to ask if some scientific reader of your paper can give a good reason why they are not practicable.

The first one is abundant light for our streets and power for our electric lines from our city water supply and water rights. Cannot our city at least get an arc light at every street intersection without a cent of cost?

The second is an electric road through Bear Creek canon to Idlewild to be operated on this plan: Let Bear creek be utilized for all the power it will supply, then let dynamos be operated on the down grade instead of the present wasteful system of brakes and let the power thus obtained be transmitted through wires for use on the trains on the upgrade.

I have been unable to see any reason why both propositions are not practicable, if they are, both are matters of very great importance to Colorado Springs.

Respectfully,
S. W. MORRISON, M. D.

The Decline in Income.

The returns upon safe investments have fallen so low as to become a serious matter to persons relying for their income upon invested capital. In the next 10 or 15 years most of the railroad bonds issued years ago at 6 and 7 per cent. interest fall due and as they are abundantly secured they will be extended at a greatly reduced rate of interest. Two such cases are before the Philadelphia investors at the present time. The first mortgage 7 per cent. bonds of the North Pennsylvania Railroad company, a perfectly safe investment, are being extended at 4 per cent. The first mortgage 7 per cent bonds of the Pennsylvania and New York Canal and Railroad company are being replaced at 4½ per cent. Both these issues were put out 30 years ago and now the new holders have their income cut down from 35 to 43 per cent. Other instances can readily be found. Twenty years ago the consolidated mortgage 6 per cent. bonds of the Pennsylvania railroad sold at par; within a few months the company has sold bonds secured by the same mortgage at 3½ per cent.

This condition is world wide. British consols have lately sold up to 111 per cent. They bear 2¾ per cent. interest, which is to be reduced to 2½ per cent. in 1903, while the bonds are absolutely payable 20 years thereafter. The rate of interest is falling throughout the civilized world. This has been its course for 30 years, and there is no reason to suppose there will be any change. The wealth of the world is increasing every years at a most wonderful rate. Every invention that tends to conserve energy, to augment production and to facilitate business is one more influence that aids in the creation of wealth. Never was the human intellect so busy as now, so ingenious, so well supported. And with every year the pressure for good investments increases. The supply is not at all equal to the demand, nor can it be. It is still possible to secure investments that yield 6 per cent interest, but they are not ordinarily such as a trustee would select for his beneficiaries. A risk must be taken. And even these opportunities are not as numerous as they were a few years ago. The truth must be recognized that we have no longer a frontier, our country is developed, all the best favored spots are occupied and there is no longer a necessity for good borrowers to pay 6 per cent. for money.

From these conditions it seems that a further fall in interest rates is inevitable. Railroads that now borrow money at 3½ per cent will be able to borrow at 3 before long. The stocks of sound dividend corporations will rise in price. But there will be one important result from this condition that will affect our career as a nation. As the pressure for good investments increases our capitalists will reach out for foreign countries just as England has done. We have Cuba and South America at our doors and we have the carrying trade of the world before us. It is morally certain that our adventurous capitalists will reach out for these new fields. They will retard the declining tendency of income for a time, but they cannot stop the irresistable law of commerce. A generation hence the rates of interest now paid, which we consider extraordinarily low, will seem to our successors to be exceptionally high.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

The Heavenly Twins

The appropriate Democratic ticket for President and Vice-President would be Tillman and Butler. They represent the dominant Democratic statesmanship of the day. They are a pair to awaken inexpressible emotions in the hearts of the American people. They inhabit that section of the country which always did dominate the Democratic party in those "good old days" for which Hon. W. E. Russell and other young leaders sigh, their demagogy and buckguardism are the kind of "hot stuff" that a great many voters believe to be about the proper thing for a political campaign; and the Senator from North Carolina would no doubt renew, short intervals awaken the absolutely uncontrollable enthusiasm of the entire Democracy of the Union by repeating to the Senator from South Carolina the historical remark which afore time passed between the Governors of those respective States.

Besides, the campaign could be conducted with no great expense for documents, since the mass of Democratic voters, though they are glad to receive political printed matter gratis, do not waste much time in reading it; and if the large unsold edition of "The Heavenly Twins" was purchased at job-lot rates, and sent over the country under Congressional frank, the volumes would be supposed to be campaign lives of Tillman and Butler.—Boston Advertiser.

AN EVENING OF DELIGHT.

John Drew Played "Christopher Jr." Last Night.

GREETED BY A BIG HOUSE.

One of the Brightest Comedy Performances Ever Given in the City of Colorado Springs—Other Local News Events.

John Drew played at the opera house last evening in his greatest New York success, "Christopher, Jr." He was greeted by a large and fashionable audience. It was an evening of rare delight for all who attended and the audience was quickened into an unusual warmth of expression. The star and his charming leading lady, Miss Maud Adams, made themselves such favorites that hereafter the announcement of an appearance here will be sufficient to pack the house.

Of course people expected Mr Drew to be amusing. His reputation as an entertainer has been so widely heralded through the press and the magazines and is so generally acknowledged that one was in a measure prepared for him but "Christopher Jr" is a surprise. It is a bright little comedy which works out a rather strained situation so naturally and prettily that you are compelled to admire it. It certainly furnishes a splendid vehicle for the exquisite art of the star and his leading lady. Mr Drew's methods are perfectly natural, no striving to produce a laugh. It is an art that conceals the art. One laughs with him, not at him, and he seems to take each one of his audience into his confidence.

Miss Adams is a charming actress, bright, vivacious and clever. She plays up to Mr Drew admirably and Christopher would hardly be acceptable without her.

One is tempted to go through the entire cast in reviewing the performance; the company is so excellent. Suffice to say, however, that a more pleasing performance has never been given here. It is to be hoped that Mr Drew is receiving such encouragement on this tour that hereafter he will play the west each season.

The graduating exercises of the High school will take place in the High school auditorium on Friday evening at 8 o'clock. The following are the graduates: Edna Jacques, Lois Stoddard, Willis Strachan, Emily Carruthers, Dora Cathcart, Verney L. M. Yesterday afternoon the fire department was called to the rear of No 11 South Weber street, where a barrel of straw had taken fire close to a small barn. By the time the chemicals were turned on the corner of the barn had caught but they were quickly doused. The loss was small if anything. It is thought that children playing about set it on fire. The electric system was working badly, and the bell kept ringing until many thought the whole town must be burning.

The Republican State delegation to the national Republican convention has selected the Rock Island as the official route to St. Louis. They leave Denver on Saturday evening next at 9 o'clock on a special train. The regular train leaving this city at 8 10 will make connection with the special at Limon.

Last evening Miss Pursell again presented "The Queen of the Plains" at the Coliseum, and had another large audience. This evening there will be a change of bill when the company will be seen to even better advantage. The specialty people with the company are excellent. Cheap prices are the rule.

Mr E M Bartlett of Minneapolis is in the city accompanied by his wife and son. Mr Bartlett is a prominent lumber dealer of Minnesota and is the guest of his uncle, Mr. N E. Parker.

Mr Will Blackmer, of the Boston School of Technology, has arrived at home for the summer vacation.

Capt. John G Bourke.

Philadelphia, June 9. Captain John G Bourke, Third cavalry, U. S A. died here yesterday. Captain Bourke was stationed at Fort Ethan Allen, Vermont. His wife was with him when he died, but the daughters were at their home in Burlington, Vt. The remains will be interred in the National cemetery at Arlington.

Captain Bourke was as well known for his writing as his fighting Indians, his talent being in the direction of their anthropology and folk-lore. He was a staunch friend of the red men of America in time of peace. He was a member of scientific societies in France, England and the United States. One of his most valuable works on the medicine men of the Apaches was published by the Smithsonian Institution. His most popular books are the "Snake Dance of the Moquis," which he was the first white man to describe in a book from being an eye-witness, "An Apache Campaign," "On the Border with Crook," all of which have had English editions. At the last meeting of the American folklore society, Captain Bourke was elected president. He enlisted as a private in the Fifteenth Pennsylvania cavalry during the war, and fought in the army of the Cumberland. He was awarded a medal of honor for gallantry at Stone River and when the war closed the President appointed him a cadet at large to West Point.

Arizona Democrats.

Phoenix Ariz., June 9—The Democratic Territorial convention elected six delegates to the national convention, passed resolutions denouncing President Cleveland's financial policy and declared for the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 without regard to the action of any other nation. The delegates elected were: W. H. Burbage, W. H Barnes, J F Wilson, J. L B Alexander, Wiley F Jones and Hugh Campbell. Mark A Smith was elected national committeeman. The proceedings were exceptionally harmonious.

Alaska Democrats.

Seattle, Wash., June 9—The steamship Willapa which arrived to-day from Alaska brings the news that the Democratic Territorial convention was held at Juneau on June 1st for the purpose of selecting six delegates to the National Democratic convention at Chicago. The following delegates and alternates were chosen:

Alternates—A P Daly, Carl Koehler, John Trumbull, C A Hart, D R Murphy, L Blumenthal.

The following platform was adopted:

Resolved, That the delegation from Alaska to the Democratic National convention to be held at Chicago July 7 1896 be and they are hereby instructed to vote as a unit in conformance with the will of the majority on all questions coming before the said national convention.

HANGED AT NEWGATE.

The Conclusion of Two Celebrated English Murder Trials

London, June 9. Wm Seaman, Harry Fowler and Albert Millson, who were convicted of murder at the May sittings of the Central criminal court, London, were hanged together at Newgate prison at 9 o'clock this morning. The executions were private, their completion being announced by the hoisting of a black flag outside the prison.

Large crowds gathered in the streets and the few cases and ones in the vicinity of the prison were busy, but orderly. There was some cheering in the crowd when the black flag was hoisted.

Wm Seaman battered to death an old Jew, John Levy, aged 75, in his own house in Whitechapel at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of Saturday, April 4 and afterwards murdered his housekeeper, a woman named Gale, by cutting her throat. Levy, who was a retired leather dealer, kept his money in gold in his house and Seaman, who heard of it, entered the house thought its inmates would be at the synagogue. He was seen climbing on the roof and a hue and cry was raised. He jumped from a wall in trying to escape and injured himself.

Henry Fowler and Albert Millson broke into Muswell Lodge, in the northwestern district of London on the night of February 13 and murdered its owner, Mr Henry Smith, a retired engineer, aged 79, who led the life of a recluse, performing even his own domestic duties. They got away with £600 in sovereigns and were not captured until after a police chase of two months. Fowler, a powerful ferocious ruffian, made a desperate struggle for freedom and had to be strapped to a stretcher to be taken to the stand. At the end of the trial he made a murderous attack on his companion Millsom, who had made a confession, admitting the burglary and blaming Fowler for the murder. Fowler lifted Millsom off his feet by the hair and dashed him to the floor and almost smashed the dock to pieces before he was overpowered and dragged below by eight policemen.

Mrs Annie Dyer, aged 58, the Reading Baby Farmer, who was convicted of having murdered a number of infants, the bodies of some of whom were found in the river, will be hanged in Newgate to-morrow.

Minister Taylor Ill

Washington, June 9—Mr Hannis Taylor, United States minister to Spain, whose sudden abandonment of his literary plans at Oxford and departure from England was told in cable dispatches, is ill in Paris. A cablegram to that effect was received in Washington to-day. How ill Mr Taylor is the dispatch did not say. It is understood that his departure from England was not due to any instructions from the State department to return to his post.

An Expose Threatened

Frankfort, Ky., June 9—The threatened expose of a lot of letters from Governor McKinley to Governor Bradley was not made public by the latter, according to promise, to-night. Governor Bradley was at work at the executive office until a late hour, and it was authoritatively announced that he was engaged in the preparation of the forthcoming statement. The publication of the correspondence which Governor Bradley proposes to make public, it is intimated will be of an extremely sensational nature.

An Alabama Cyclone

Montgomery, Ala., June 9—The little town of Wyeth City, in Marshall county, some 30 miles west of Gadsden, with a population of about 300 souls, was completely wrecked at 11 o'clock this morning by a cyclone. Eighteen houses were destroyed. The cyclone lasted fully five minutes and then passed in a northeasterly direction. Fifteen persons are wounded, six fatally. Mrs Pickett's and a man named Bundy were badly hurt and will die. Mrs Clark, Mrs Brown and several children will probably die. The path of the cyclone was almost 400 yards wide. Several persons are missing and it is probable that they will be found dead. Ed Long and an unknown woman were killed by lightning.

Gen Whitely Dead

Baltimore, June 9—Gen Robert Henry Kindwood Whitely, U S A. (retired), died at his home in this city to-day, aged 97 years. Gen. Whitely saw active service in the Seminole, Mexican and Civil wars. He was born in Cambridge, Md., and was graduated from West Point in the class of 30. He was retired in 1863 with the rank of major general.

Insurgents were Victors

Havana, June 9—On Thursday last, a force of Havana volunteers who were acting as a garrison on the Threcioso estate, near Cardenas, met a large rebel party and an engagement took place in which the volunteers were defeated and compelled to retire. Several of the government's force were killed and two wounded.

Connecticut Democrats

Hartford, Conn., June 9—The preliminary caucuses of the Democratic State conventions were held at the principal hotels in the city this evening. The convention will meet at the Auditorium at 10 30 to-morrow morning. The platform will declare for the gold standard and for a tariff that will raise sufficient reserve for the government and a surplus.

All members of Pike's Peak Division No. 10, U. R. K. of P., are hereby ordered to report at armory to-night at 7 30 p m sharp, in full dress to escort Grand Chancellor Davis from The Antlers Hotel to Castle hall. By order,

DENTAL DON'TS

Don't use the juice of lemons unless well diluted with water, for pure, undiluted lemon acid will dissolve the enamel.

Don't blame your dentist for poor work if your newly filled teeth ache when brought in contact with ice cold water.

Don't brush the teeth with soap unless you want them to turn yellow in time, and don't use charcoal paste because it will discolor the gums.

After using acid foods and drinks don't fail to rinse the mouth thoroughly with tepid water in which a pinch of baking soda has been dropped.

Don't fail to cleanse the teeth even more frequently in summer than in winter, for heat causes greater fermentation of the particles of food left between the teeth than cold.

If you have a bad tooth or root which should be removed from your mouth, don't delay the operation until cold weather, for your jaw and gums will heal more kindly in warm weather.

Don't take iced drinks into the mouth too fast. Ice brought in direct contact with the teeth cracks the enamel, contracts the metal fillings in the teeth, causing them to leak and decay again.

Don't stop eating candy unless you want to, for candy of itself does not hurt the teeth. It is only by allowing portions of candy to remain on and between the teeth long enough to decompose or sour that the teeth are injured.—St Louis Republic.

POINTS OF LAW.

An extension of time for the payment of a debt will not discharge a surety unless it is for a definite time and on a sufficient consideration. A mere forbearance to sue is not sufficient.

A conveyance of real property from a husband directly to his wife, although void at common law, may be sustained if resting upon equitable grounds, such as a sufficient money consideration.

The driver of a vehicle is bound, before crossing a street railway, to assure himself that no car is approaching, and a failure to make an investigation will constitute negligence on his part and prevent recovery of damages.

After one party to a contract has partly performed it, unless he can be placed in his original position, the other party cannot rescind for his default in further performance, but is limited to an action for damages for such breach of contract.

When liability for a demand is charged against or imputed to a person and the occasion or circumstances of making it are such as to call upon him if he dispute such liability to deny it, he ought to do so in order to avoid the admission which is reasonably implied by his silence.

If it required an annual outlay of $100 to insure a family against any serious consequences from an attack of bowel complaint during the year there are many who would feel it their duty to pay it, that they could not afford to risk their lives, and those of their family for such an amount. In almost every neighborhood some one has died from an attack of bowel complaint before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. Mines, Stocks, Investments

Colorado Springs Mining Stock Association.

Colorado Springs, June 9—Firmness and activity characterized the proceedings at the Exchange this morning. A feeling of general confidence was very apparent throughout the entire session, notwithstanding an incipient bear raid on one of the old favorites. The demand was fully equal to the offerings and sellers experienced no trouble in parting with their holdings. Among the heavy traders in the listed stocks were Union, Isabella, Mt Rosa, Cripple Creek Consolidated and Trachyte. Owing to the impression that Union should have passed a dividend or two and invested the money in mine improvements, that stock failed to score a gain of more than ¾ from yesterday. The first sale was made at 34, with the bear element evidently in control who considered it an opportune time to sell with the result that 2500 shares went as low as 33⅛. At this juncture buyers began to make their presence felt and the tide turned slowly upward, the six concluding sales taking place at 34¼ with 34⅛ bid. Isabella opened at yesterday's closing figures, but soon went to 59¾ and for a time to 60—its highwater mark. It then fluctuated between 59¾ and 59½ closing firm at the latter figure with total sales of 18,700 shares. Mollie Gibson opened a full point higher at 71, but dropped to 69½ at the close. Portland opened 3 cents higher at $1.75 and closed at $1.77½. Mt. Rosa was very firm at 10. Pharmacist and Fanny Rawlings were unchanged, but held firm. Argentum and Work were a shade off color. In the unlisted department, Squaw Mountain Tunnel still climbed skyward, selling as high as 2¾ and figured in the general total for 8500 sales. Anchoria sold for $1.56 and Colorado City and Manitou was in good demand at 3⅛, with sales of 6000 shares. The market closed firm.

ANOTHER FLORENCE PLANT.

Stock of a Reduction Company Is Taken in London.

News came from London Monday to the effect that all the shares in the Cripple Creek Reduction company, limited, had been subscribed for and that steps would at once be taken to commence building the first plant of the company at Florence, this State. The Cripple Creek Reduction company is formed for the purpose of treating Cripple Creek ores by a process owned by Professor Page, of this State. This is a process wherein cyanide is used in conjunction with another preparation and the claim is made for it that the process will save 95 per cent of the gold in ore treatment.

Plans of the new company promise much. The total capitalization is $650,000 of which $100,000 was guaranteed before the subscription books were opened to the public. The books were opened May 20 and closed four days later.

This is the fifth company operating in the Cripple Creek district which has been brought out in London within a very few months and J. B. Crosby who brought out the Pioneers' company and the Exploitation company, engineered the reduction company on this side and yesterday learned that Professor Page intended to sail for his side last Saturday.

It was learned yesterday that already the reduction company has acquired 10 acres of ground in close proximity to the reduction works at present in operation at Florence. The guaranteed $100,000 is to be at once expended in the erection of a plant and operations pursued without delay.—(Denver Republican.

Moon-Anchor Returns.

Returns have just been received by the Moon-Anchor company for the last four cars of ore sent to the Philadelphia smelter at Pueblo. The entire lot averaged $81.10 per ton. The company is getting some very rich specimens of sylvanite ore from the bottom of the main working shaft. Large pieces of the rock brought down from camp and now on exhibition at the company's office, show up sylvanite in great abundance.

A Good Move.

Secretary Irvine has just introduced a new feature in the matter of reporting the transactions at the Board of Trade. Heretofore, if a trading member forgot the prices at which certain sales were made, or the number of shares involved, he was compelled to visit the exchange room a second time to right his memory. This will all be done away with by the daily report which is now prepared and sent to each member of the Board, giving an itemized record of every stock sale taking place, together with the price at which the transfer was made. This report will enable the non-attending or absent member to follow the course of the market in its details and the various fluctuations as closely as though he were present in person.

WYOMING OIL FIELDS.

Interesting Interview with Mr. C. M. Smith of Casper.

Among the arrivals in town during the past few days was Mr. C. M. Smith of Manager Smith came down from Wyoming Lubricating Oil company, a corporation whose stock is almost entirely owned by local residents, and whose officers and directors are residents of Colorado Springs.

Manager Smith came down from Wyoming to make a personal report to the officers of the company as to the present condition of affairs in the Salt creek oil basin of central Wyoming, and the present state of development work on the company's property, and outline a policy for the future guidance of the company in its work of developing the immense area of oil bearing territory which it owns.

"The oil wells of Salt Creek basin," said Mr. Smith to a Gazette man yesterday, "have long since passed the experimental stage, and we hope before many days to prove that these fields are fully as rich, if not richer, than any lubricating oil producing ground in the United States.

"The Salt Creek oil fields are located about 42 miles from the city of Casper where refining works have now been erected. The crude oil must be transported this long distance by wagons but notwithstanding the heavy expense incidental thereto, a large profit can be made by the well owners on account of the small expense in producing this oil when once they are tapped and machinery is in place."

Mr. Smith brought with him a large number of samples of these oils in various stages of refinement from the wells of the Pennsylvania Oil syndicate. The oil in its natural state is a high grade lubricant, which is being perfected [illegible] will furnish lubricating [illegible] best quality [illegible] grades of [illegible]. The Salt Creek [illegible] a [illegible] small percentage of [illegible] and [illegible] very detrimental [illegible] used for lubricating purposes. The [illegible] contains 1½ per cent of volatile oils and 23 per cent of tar. There is a total absence of wax or paraffine and a [illegible] of the product sent to the World's Fair carried off the first prize as a natural lubricating oil—a very high honor when it is remembered that oil producers of the entire world were in competition.

The remoteness of the Salt Creek country and the absence of railway facilities for the economical transportation of these oils to the refining works at Casper, has tended to retard the development of these fields to a very great extent. With the advent of a railroad to Casper, the construction of refining works was made possible, but even yet the distance the crude product must be hauled is very great. It has been proven that several of these basins, at least, are vast reservoirs of oil, and that this oil is of a remarkably high grade. The district is on the eve of a development that will astonish the country.

Of the several oil basins that have been located, the Salt Creek basin has been most fully developed and has proven the most valuable. This basin is situated about 45 miles north of Casper, in Natrona county, and a little northeast of the center of the State. Here the Pennsylvania Oil syndicate owns large areas of land and has to-day several producing wells, each having a capacity of 20 barrels per day of high grade lubricating oil. This product is a very remarkable natural oil, and not at all to be compared in value with the ordinary petroleum of the Pennsylvania and other fields. This oil can be sold for $8 per barrel as it comes from the wells, and without any refining whatever. It is equal to the best engine and car oils upon the market.

The Wyoming company owns 1200 acres of land immediately adjoining the property of the Pennsylvania Oil syndicate. This ground is believed to be fully as valuable as that belonging to the syndicate. The company is now driving a well and is meeting with very good success. The well has already reached a depth of over 1,100 feet, and it is thought that by the time the bore reaches a depth of 1,400 feet, oil in sufficient quantities and equal in value to that produced on adjacent ground will be encountered. All indications at present point to this end, and the work for the next few weeks is being looked forward to with considerable interest. Small quantities of oil have already been found, and the company is now contemplating putting in a pump and tank immediately. The Colorado Springs people who are interested in this venture, and who are the officers of the company, are J. T. Reel, C. H. Morse and H. Morse.

DEEP MINING IN CRIPPLE.

T. W. Goad Thinks This Will Develop Far Greater Riches.

"I was down at Cripple Creek a few days ago," said T. W. Goad, manager of the Gold and Silver Extraction company of America, to a reporter for the Denver Republican, Monday, "and while there examined a large number of properties. The average depth of all the shafts that I examined is not more than 200 feet. I do not think that the Cripple Creek district has been scratched. Everything indicates that the great values of the district are at vastly greater depths than this. I do not believe that the camp will be at its best until the granite which underlies the district has been reached and I think that when that has been found and the phonolite dykes that have been forced through the granite are located the great era of production in the camp will be commenced. Because some few mines have found great values at comparatively shallow depths is by no means a general indication of the entire district. It stands to reason that where some few occurrences of the overflow reaching the surface have been found, the body of the material from which these overflows come must lie far below. All mining experience goes to show that great depths must be attained to secure the best results, and in a district like Cripple Creek where there are no continuous veins like those in Gilpin county, but short veins crossing each other at every conceivable angle, showing that the rock was scattered by a tremendous, almost perpendicular upheaval, deep mining is especially necessary.

"I think that the numerous tunnels now being driven into the hills to reach great depths will solve the problem of the Cripple Creek district. Of course more instances of great values near the surface are likely to be found but I think that the underlying principle that should govern operations in Cripple Creek is deep mining and I do not believe that the full development of the district will be reached until it is thoroughly established that deep mining is an absolute necessity. This truth is gradually forcing itself upon the miners of the district, and no one should engage in mining there who is not prepared to sink a deep shaft."

Begins Crosscutting.

The Oriole company has decided to begin crosscutting on the shaft which it is sinking on a large phonolite dyke which crosses its properties south of Cripple Creek city. The shaft is down 90 feet and is thought to be deep enough to catch a good strong vein in about 15 feet. If the vein should be barren when cut, sinking will be resumed at once to a depth of 150 feet. The lessees who are also working on the company's property along this dyke are making arrangements to start cross-cutting for the same vein.

Ready for a Transfer.

Mr. Frank H. Pettingell, the newly elected secretary of the Colfax company, states that he is now prepared to transfer the stock of that company. The stock books have been closed for some time on account of irregularities made by a former officer. The books are now in good shape.

WEEKLY LETTER EXTRACTS.

The following extracts are taken from the weekly letter of Messrs. Rope, Key & Co.:

"The general tone of the market has during the past week shown an improvement. The high-priced stocks have been actively dealt in and close firm and in good demand. We advise our clients to purchase Isabella at its present quotation, and of the other standard stocks, we have confidence in Portland, Union and Anaconda. The prospects are not at the present time being extensively dealt in, and investors show a decided preference for those stocks which are paying dividends.

"The shaft on the Buena Vista of the Isabella company has been sunk to a depth of about 600 feet and the new shaft on the Lee claim has been commenced. The company contemplate putting up a hoisting plant on this property with a sufficient capacity of 1000 to 1500 feet. The company now have a surplus in the treasury of $112,000, having paid out five dividends in succession amounting to $112,500. We anticipate that this company will continue to be a regular dividend payer, as during the past six months their net profits have been more than sufficient each month to pay the amount required for the dividend.

"At a meeting of the directors of the Portland Gold Mining company held yesterday afternoon, a dividend of 1 cent per share was declared, payable on June 15. There is no doubt that the company could, if it chose, have paid a larger dividend, but the directors deemed it expedient not to do so. The gross production of the Portland mines for the month of May amounted to 2349 tons. The production for June will show a slight increase over this amount. The directors have appointed Mr. Benjamin B. Lawrence of Denver as their consulting engineer. Mr. Lawrence as a mining engineer has few equals and his services should be of great benefit to the company.

"The latest reports received from the Mollie Gibson are of a favorable nature. Regular shipments are being made of about 25 tons per day of ore averaging 130 ounces per ton. Some of the latest assays, however, which have just been received return very much higher values. During the latter half of the month of May, $20,000 worth of ore was taken out of the mine. Should the improvement in this property continue Mollie Gibson stock at its present quotation should certainly be a good purchase.

"Some uneasiness has been experienced by the holders of Argentum stock owing to the water in the mine, which has reached the fifth level. But we are assured that the company can easily keep the water under control with their present pumping plant, and that it will not be allowed to further increase, and just as soon as the improvements which are being made in the pumping machinery are completed the lower levels of the mine will at once be cleared of water. At the present time the mine is shipping from the upper levels more than sufficient ore to pay the running expenses of the company."

In their last weekly letter, Messrs. Carnduff & Rusch say:

"There is a decidedly stronger feeling in the market this week; the higher-priced stocks, with the exception of Portland and Union show a substantial advance. It was generally expected that the Portland dividend would be increased to at least 2 cents, and the declaring of a dividend of but 1 cent for June naturally depressed the price of the stock. As a result of this action it dropped to $1.72½, but these low figures attracted purchasers and all stock offered below $1.78 was rapidly absorbed.

"Isabella, Consolidated and Pharmacist are stronger this week. Isabella has become an Eastern favorite, owing to the regularity with which payments are being kept up, and the demand for the stock appears to be steadily on the increase. News that the old Pharmacist vein is again showing rich ore caused a gain of 2 cents since last Saturday, and to-day's figures still seem too low, when compared with the price at which other stocks are selling. There appears to be no good reason for an advance in Consolidated, which reached 15¼ yesterday, but is again losing ground.

"The brighter outlook for silver and the encouraging news from both Gibson and A-J are sufficient excuse for to-day's rally in price. In the last few days the Gibson mine has shipped some $10,000 worth of ore, and the condition of the property is most satisfactory. The monthly returns from the A-J average $30,000, and the presence of water in the lower workings, although temporarily preventing further development, is no hindrance to the shipment of ore."

Messrs. J. McK. Ferriday & Co. in their last weekly letter say:

"The feature of the past week has been the strength shown by Isabella and Portland. In the case of the former, although a great deal of stock changed hands, the price remained firm at about 59¾.

"The rapid advance of Arcadia and then its decline, might be attributed to several causes; the chief one in our minds being the fact that parties who have recently secured control of this property, having bought all they desired with from their supper and the outsiders realizing this sold the stock at the best possible prices.

"The following extract is taken from the New York Sun of June 2: 'The failure to discover the new veins shatters the fond theories of promoters, that the district contains many rich undiscovered veins.'

"We cannot help but be astonished at not only the untruthfulness of such a statement, but also at the ignorance displayed. For the past year the New York Sun has taken upon itself to make these ridiculous statements. One has only to look at the new strikes made every day and see the list of increased shippers, to put the above statement down as absolutely false. Within the past two months three new dividend payers have been added to the list and from all accounts we may look for another within a few weeks. We cannot understand why the Eastern newspapers should continually run down mining and its accessories. Mining is as legitimate as any other business and may be made considerably more profitable, only it demands as much business ability and attention as is given to other enterprises. Another thing to be taken into consideration is the formation, which is made up to a great extent of granite, and it requires both time and patience to show values and depth.

"The Elkton Consolidated which last month became a dividend payer, is producing large quantities of ore, and developments made since the opening of the year prove it to be one of the biggest mines of the district. In the Walter claim of the company, the ore chute in the fourth level holds continuous for 225 feet, and the grade is high. Into this chute comes a richer one that carries for 30 feet on the vein and is 18 inches in width. The mine is now working 75 men in ore and on development."

Current Notes.

A crosscut at 150 feet has just entered a new vein in the Minnie Lew. This Ironclad property is making a brave effort to enter the ranks of the producers.

The Fairview, on Globe hill, is being worked by four sets of lessees. All have great faith in the property, although up to the present time none of them have found pay ore.

Work has been resumed on the Alice, on Raven, east of the Elkton. It is well equipped to carry on extensive developments, and the showing above ground already looks much like a mine.

Monday the gallows frame for the Lee mine, belonging to the Isabella company, on Bull hill, was put in place. The property will soon be equipped with a hoisting plant and development will be carried on on a large scale.

The north 600 feet of the Carmilla, located on Guyot hill, is being worked under a $80,000 bond and lease by Messrs. Smith and Williams. They have a shaft down 30 feet and are getting out a little ore that assays pay. It is improving with depth.

The Rattler, the recent bonanza discovery on Raven hill, is employing 15 men. The vein appears to be dipping north, and if it keeps this course for 100 feet, the owners of the Kentucky Belle will have the extension on the north end of that property.

A fractional piece of ground on the south end of the Nellie V., on Squaw mountain, has recently been leased by Messrs Spanard and Maney. They have sunk a shaft 30 feet deep. They feel confident of getting the extension of the great Nellie V. vein.

Mr. J. N. McGruder, manager of the Cripple Creek International company, was a visitor in town yesterday en route to Texas. The C. C. I. company is operating on Phonolite mountain and claim to have some very good things. The company is a southern one.

The North Star, which is being worked under lease by T. C. Bradford, and is one of the Gold Standard's properties, on Raven hill, has come into an eight-inch streak of phenomenally rich ore. The depth is 200 feet and the new ore is found in a drift 70 feet from the shaft.

A group of claims on the south spur of Gold hill, the El Reno, Comstock and the World's Fair, will now be worked by the company owning them. Work will be started at once with three shifts in several different shafts, with the expectation of finding the extension of the Caledonia vein.

J. E. Branch has taken a year's lease on the Comstock lode, near the south base of Raven hill just below the Moose. A shaft has been sunk 116 feet on a well-defined vein that is showing encouraging values. A new hoisting plant is now being put in place, and in a few days work will be resumed mine fashion. The property is owned by George I. Bentley and others of Colorado Springs.

The shaft on the Star of Bethlehem lease, on Bull hill, which property belongs to the Bankers company, has reached a depth of 110 feet. Some very rich sylvanite ore is being hoisted and a very large lot of ore is ready for shipment. The property lies about 600 feet south of the Star of Bethlehem, in a big draw below the town of Altman. Jim Casey first had a lease on the ground and after cutting the vein at the depth of 40 feet he sold the lease to the present owners.

For some time past it has been a well established fact, says the Cripple Creek Times, that well defined veins of gold ore traverse the ground on which the site of Cripple Creek is located. Many efforts have been made to secure the right to mine under the camp, but until quite recently the town corporation has turned a deaf ear to all such applicants. A short time ago the real values were made known by J. E. Riley, Kansas City, who is the promoter of the Kansas City Standard Gold Mining company. A franchise for 20 years has been granted that company and a mineral survey has been made by a United States deputy mineral surveyor. His tracings show that eight distinct fissure veins and five blowouts underlie the corporate limits of Cripple Creek. A 250-foot shaft will be sunk on a lot near Third street and Bennet avenue. It having been purchased for that purpose. From this shaft drifts will be run in different directions tapping the several veins. No time will be lost in commencing this work as the gentlemen interested in the enterprise have an abundance of capital to push the work to completion, among them being L. E. Wine, president; John J. Reiser, secretary and treasurer, Hugh J. McGowan, general manager of the Barber Asphalt company of Kansas City; Frank J. Phillips, superintendent of the People's Cable railway of Kansas City and J. E. Riley, general contractor and builder.

Mr. James Perdue, an old soldier residing at Monroe, Mich., was severely afflicted with rheumatism but received prompt relief from pain by using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. He says: "At times my back would ache so badly that I could hardly raise up. If I had not gotten relief I would not be here to write these few lines. Chamberlain's Pain Balm has done me a great deal of good and I feel very thankful for it."

Mines, Stocks, Investments

Colorado Springs Board of Trade and Mining Exchange.

Colorado Springs, June 9—The market at the Board this morning showed a marked improvement over yesterday both in feeling and the volume of business transacted. Both buyers and sellers were desirous of doing business and generally agreed on prices. Buying orders were more numerous and the mine list was favored by them to a very large extent. Union opened at 31, the initial sale calling for 300 shares. The stock then stiffened at 34½, at which figure the final transfer was recorded. The first sale in Isabella was made at 59¾, at which figure 1000 shares were taken in one block. The last sale was made at 60—the highest point Isabella has over reached. Mollie Gibson, Argentum-Juniata and Portland scored advances in price during the call. Cripple Creek Consolidated was also in more favor at 16 for 1000 shares. In the prospective mine list, Colorado City and Manitou was higher than yesterday, with sales of 3000 shares at 3⅜ and 3½. Squaw Mountain Tunnel was also higher, selling at from 2⅝ to 2⅞, closing at the last named figure. In the prospects, Josephine has its first call for some time, and sold for $4 50 and $5 per 1000 for 26,000 shares. Golden Treasure made quite a big advance to $8 25 and $8 50 per 1000 for 67,000 shares. The market closed steady.

EASTERN MARKETS.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

New York, June 9.—Money on call has been easy at 1½@2 per cent., last loan at and closing offered at 2. Prime mercantile paper 4½@5 per cent. Bar silver 68¼. Mexican dollars 53¾. Sterling exchange firmer, with actual business in bankers bills at $4 87¼@4 87½ for 60 days and $4 88¼@4 88½ for demand. Posted rates $4.88@4 89. Commercial bills $4 86¼@4 86¾. Government bonds steady. State bonds quiet. Railroad bonds lower. Silver at the board was steady.

This has been another extremely quiet day at the stock exchange, the transactions footing up only 113,000 shares. The fact that early cables from London reported quotations there slightly above our closing on yesterday, imparted steadiness to the local market at the opening this morning, but a reaction set in in sympathy with a fairly heavy selling movement in Sugar, due to a report that E. C. Potter, a prominent broker and son-in-law of Theodore A. Havemeyer, had met his death yesterday while playing polo. This story was accompanied by another that the firm of E. C. Potter & Co. were closing out their holdings of sugar. It subsequently transpired that Mr. Potter, while sustaining serious injury, was still alive with fair chances of recovery. Nevertheless sugar stock declined 1¾ to 123 and closed at 123¼. Some of the other specialties were rallied, notably Colorado Fuel and Iron and Tennessee Coal and Iron, the former selling off 2¼ and the latter 1½ to 22¾ on reports that the earnings of both companies were falling off in consequence of dull trade. Consolidated Gas declined 2 to 153 and recovered to 155. In the remainder of the list the losses after an early advance of ⅛@⅜ per cent., were only ⅛ to ¾, followed by a partial recovery in the late transactions. The declaration of the usual dividend by the Manhattan Elevated directors and the recommendation by the executive committee of the Western Union to declare the usual dividend on that stock served to hold their shares firm. The speculation closed barely steady in tone. Net changes show declines of ⅛@1½ per cent., the latter in Tennessee Coal and Iron.

The bond market was more active and weak. The transactions aggregated $1,035,000. Chesapeake and Ohio gen. 4½'s fell 1 to 72, Iron Mountain consol 5's 2½ to 77½; Kansas and Texas seconds 1 to 57; Ohio Southern first 6's 2 to 56; Wisconsin Central 5's certificates 1 to 31, and Northern Pacific firsts ¾ to 117.

In government bonds $7,500 coupon 4's of 1925 sold at 116½@117; $4,000 registered 4's of 1907, at 108@108¼.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, June 9.—The bull fever in wheat received further check this morning. In fact the easier tone, which prevailed developed on the curb last night was primarily due to the receipt of the Michigan State report. It was the genuine, bona fide report and not a rumor, as was circulated late last week. It gave the condition as 77 per cent., a falling off of 15 points from the last previous report, whereas the crowd had played the condition in that State as 62 on last Friday. This necessitated a change of front and, on the selling which took place this morning, prices receded about a cent. Northwestern receipts were heavy at 685 cars against 606 last Tuesday and 2?? a year ago. Chicago had 34 cars and inspected out 60,558 bushels. Liverpool cables were ⅛@¼ pence lower. Closing continental cables were generally lower. Immediately preceding and subsequent to the receipt of Bradstreets report giving the moderate reduction of 1,782,000 bushels in the world's stocks, the market displayed increased weakness and prices fell about 1 cent below the early inside figures. Export clearances for to-morrow 16 cars.

Corn suffered depreciation on account of heavy receipts, 553 cars, lower Liverpool cables and in a general way through the influence of the conditions attaching to the market. The brilliant prospects for the next crop and the known stocks held back by farmers were omnipresent considerations. The weakness of wheat doubtless lent easiness to corn. Withdrawals from store were 230,703 bushels. Bradstreets reported an increase in stocks of 847,000 bushels. Export clearances were fair at 200,435 bushels. July corn opened at 28, sold between 28¼ and 27⅝, closing at 27⅝@28, under yesterday. Estimated receipts for to-morrow 215 car.

OSTEOPATHY! OSTEOPATHY!

America's New Science.

The Greatest Discovery In the Healing Art Made During This Century,

Osteopathy Is Based Upon Common Sense and a Perfectly Rational Philosophy.

The human organism in its normal condition is a perfect piece of mechanism, in every part so nicely adjusted that the machine runs without jar or hitch. This Condition is Health.

When any of the bony framework, muscles, tendons, ligaments, blood vessels and nerves become displaced ever so little undue pressure is made upon some part or parts and the circulation of the blood or nerve-force is obstructed, producing local congestion and pain, the Beginning of Disease.

If the obstruction of the blood or nerve-force continues long enough, the disease becomes chronic and the health is slowly but surely undermined.

Osteopathy seeks to remove all these obstructions to the circulation of the blood and other fluids of the body by adjusting all dislocations or displacements of whatever kind, restoring the bodily mechanism to a normal, perfect condition, as originally designed by an All-Wise Creator.

To do this Osteopathy does not employ massage, magnetism, faith cure, drugs or any other empirical means, but makes use of a thorough knowledge of anatomy and physiology, restoring every part to its proper position by means of skilled manipulations.

Osteopathy has Long Since Passed the Stage of Experiment.

Thousands testify to its superior efficiency in the treatment of all manner of diseases to which human flesh is heir.

People in every State in the Union bless Osteopathy for deliverance from the bondage of disease.

The diseases most successfully treated are Asthma, Consumption, Granulated Eyelids, Sore Eyes, Enlarged Tonsils, Loss of Voice, Hemorrhages, Heart Disease, Varicose Veins, Milk Leg, Female Diseases, Constipation, Dyspepsia, Gout, Rheumatism, Liver and Kidney [illegible], Spinal Curvature, Paralysis, [illegible] of all kinds, Hip Joint Disease, Wasted or Stiffened Limbs, Piles or Rectal Diseases; in fact, all diseases that are obstruction either to the circulation of the Blood or Nerve-Force.

The Clippers and the Holbrook & Perkins nines played a game of ball at the Athletic Park yesterday afternoon which resulted in a victory for the Clippers by a score of 15 to 3. It was rather an interesting game and deserved a much larger crowd than was present. The Stereopticon entertainment at the First M. E. church last night was a great success. Views were given of mountain scenery in Colorado and methods of irrigation in the Pecos Valley. The entertainment was not greeted with as large a house as it deserved by any means.
